Are you currently untreated for mental illness? It's harsh but it's relevant. Hey, we're not being "mental-health-ist" but untreated mental disorders (especially if you suffer from mental illness yourself) can lead you into dark places mentally and spiritually.

Are you polyamorous? If you are this is definitely a question you want to ask, however if you're not you also want to ask this question. Unless you're open to the idea of the poly lifestyle often times monogamous people have a hard time to adjusting to the idea of sharing their intimate partner.

Do you want/have kids? No seriously, not like do you want to tell me you want kids in this moment because I'm freakin hot and you're hoping to get some play at the end of the night, but like do you want to wipe baby asses and give up some if not at all of your freedom at some point?

Immigration Policy, Social & Political Beliefs, Child Rearing and Discipline Approaches, Women's Rights, Feminism... ahhhhh you get the point. These topics have consistently ruined any occasion. Why not start with the first date so there's no time wasted?

Do you like to kiss? Not only will this stir up some pheromones if there's a mutual attraction, but it'll save you from a future awkward moment. Personally, I'm a kisser so I can't compromise here. The more tongue and lip action the better.

How much time do you expect to spend with someone you're actively pursuing? Some people have a lot of time on their hands. Some have none. Your expectations can curve your level of satisfaction in a relationship and if one of you needs more attention than the other it can be a recipe for fruit cake. Sorry I'm high.

If LGBTQ, are you out to your family and/or friends? I don't have to explain why this is important do I? If so, inbox me. Seriously.

PDA (Public Displays of Affection). Are you into it or naw? To what extent? In front of whom? Again, refer to Question No. 7: Are You Out?

Are you in the military or the Big Top Circus? Let's face it. Long distance relationships aren't for everyone. However some people prefer them due to the need for personal space and/or their own career or travel engagements. .

Do you smoke Cigarettes and/or Marijuana? Marijuana is usually comprisable amongst non-marijuana smokers however studies show that most non-marijuana smokers become nags about their partners love of the herbal necessity. (I made that up but it sounds good).
